

“Rethinking the Future of Housing Worldwide: Favelas as a Sustainable Model?”

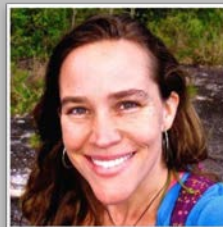

LACIS LECTURE SERIES

NOVEMBER 2, 12:00 P.M. - ROOM 1199, SCHOOL OF HUMAN ECOLOGY. FREE & OPEN TO PUBLIC

About the speaker:

Dr. Theresa Williamson is an outspoken and respected activist and speaker on Rio de Janeiro’s favelas working to ensure they are recognized for their heritage status and their residents fully served as equal citizens. She is editor-in-chief of RioOnWatch, CatComm’s internationally recognized sustainable urbanism watchdog news site and favela news service regarded for its work in informing and influencing international journalists covering the Olympics, and local debates on housing in Rio.

Theresa Williamson
Executive Director

Catalytic Communities - Brazil

LACIS
Latin American, Caribbean, and
Iberian Studies Program

